

How to make a podcast in Garageband BASICS

- On your dock, click on the GarageBand application  and double click on Podcast.
- Name your new podcast and save to a specific location.

- Your podcast track is where you will lay down your pictures. To find your pictures, go to the media browser window and click photos.

- Click and drag selected photos onto the Podcast track.

- You will need to adjust the length of your pictures. That is easy, just click on the scroll bar and go to the end of your picture. Take your cursor and a cross should appear. Move your cursor to the left to make the clip shorter or to the right to make the clip longer.

- Once you put all of your pictures on your podcast track and adjusted the lengths of the pictures, it is time to record your voice over. It is probably important at this stage to make sure that your students have a script typed and practiced aloud. Double click on the Male Voice or Female Voice.
