

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

The Rowan-Salisbury School District was created by an act of the North Carolina General Assembly, and as such, is considered a subdivision of the State Government. The Internal Revenue Service considers public school districts in North Carolina to be non-profit governmental employers, and as such levies no income taxes on their operations.

If you have further questions about the tax-exempt status of this school district, please contact me at (704) 630-6020, and I will be happy to assist you in any way that I can.

Sincerely,
